TOWNLEY PAYS CITY VISIT IN TOUR OF STATE

Nonpartisan League Chief Visits City Airplane and is Off to Meetings

REPORTED GOING ON WEST

Campaign Now Underway in North Dakota to Boost Membership of League

A. C. Townley and his airplane, after paying Bismarck a brief visit, departed today for Ellendale, continuing Townley's tour over the central and eastern sections of the state. Mr. Townley is said to have come to the city only because he could not obtain accommodations at Burnstad. He conferred with a number of Nonpartisan league leaders while here.

A drive for members and contributions is now under way in the central and eastern parts of the state particularly by the Nonpartisan league. The partial defeat of the league candidates and issues in the recent primary and the prospects of a hard campaign in the fall are said to have prompted the personal campaign of Townley by airplane.

Big Contributions
According to reports from various counties where the head of the league has been, a plan has been evolved to solicit $100 contributions from a large number of men east of the Missouri river for the campaign chest, as well as a campaign for two-year memberships for the league at $18, dating from next December.

The campaign of Townley is not to end with North Dakota; it is said. According to reports from the Twin Cities headquarters, Townley will visit Montana, Washington, Oregon and Idaho. The league campaigns in Washington and Oregon are said not to have been entirely satisfactory.

In Oregon in particular they have found it hard-sledding and in Washington the league decided to put a third ticket in the field in the state campaign. Considerable progress has been made by organizers in lumber camps, where the I. W. W. has been strong, it is reported.

Claim Great Victories
Copies of Oregon papers announcing the impending visit of Townley have been received here.

League organizers who have returned to Portland after a brief trip east to assist in the recent primaries in Minnesota and North Dakota report overwhelming victories in both states. "They aver intensive campaigns will be waged this summer in both Idaho and Washington. President Townley will bring west both of his $10,000 airplanes and will cover the two audiences by air speaking to farmers directly in all the principal towns," it continues.

Details of the "overwhelming victory" in Minnesota or in North Dakota are not given. In Minnesota the league has lost its entire state ticket, and lost 25,000 votes as compared to two years ago says a Minneapolis paper, commenting on the reports.

GOVERNOR OFF FOR TOUR OF YELLOWSTONE

Executive's Family and That of John Hagan Make the Trip - by Motor

GONDOLAS NOW GAS-PROPELLED

VENICE, "Signor, your gondolas float without!" That's the way this city is here now. Before the war no one traveled the canals of Venice save a Red Cross worker except in the time-honored man-propelled boats. Now it's race to chug-chug along the sleepy waterways in gas launches.

CONFESSES MURDER OF HIS MOTHER FOR WHICH HIS FATHER WAS HANGED

Toronto, July 23.—A self-confessed murderer of his mother, a crime for which his father was hanged seven years ago, Arnell Love, 22, a Ceylon, Ont., farmer, lies in jail here today. During evangelistic services in his home town, Love went forward and declared to the evangelists that he had clubbed his mother to death, because she had reprimanded him for "keeping bad company."

Love was one of the principal witnesses against his father, Henry Love, who was convicted by a jury and hanged at Owing Sound, Ont., seven years ago. The evidence against him was mostly circumstantial. On the scaffold he made what was believed to be a confession of his guilt. On advice of the evangelist, Love gave himself up to the police, who are investigating his story.

FARM BUREAUS CONSIDER WORK OF MARKETING

Groups in Chicago Divide Efforts, One Taking Grain and Other Livestock

NOT GOING INTO BUSINESS

(Chicago, July 24.—Two groups of delegates gathered today for the second day of the convention of the American Farm bureau federation. One meeting took up the problem of marketing grain, the other that of livestock.

Legislative representatives of grain growers and meat producers of the United States and Canada, organized agriculture was represented by farm bureau, farmers unions, granges and equity associations.

J. R. Howard, president, explained that the bureau did not intend to go into the marketing business, but that the aim was to help form the marketing organization in order to "encourage production, stabilize culture and get a square deal for the farmer and consumer."

The new plan will eliminate the broker and middlemen and go between the farmer and consumer, he said.

Pass Resolution
A resolution endorsing the appointment of a committee to consider ways and means for the cooperative marketing of grain and livestock for the best interests of all concerned was passed by the American Farm Bureau federation in the convention.

The resolution recommends that the President appoint a committee of 17 to devise a plan, subject to approval of the federation, for the marketing of products through one or more metropolitan outlets. Another resolution was passed endorsing the deepening of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway.

Rosemary Lomas Takes Winchester Prize in Competition With Many Others

Rosemary Lomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Lomas of Bismarck, won the Winchester prize, amounting to $25 in cash, and the honor of being the best mathematician in Burleigh county. Announcement was made today by W. D. Parsons, county superintendent of schools that Miss Lomas has received the highest grade on the examination papers which the six contestants handed in Monday at term.

The other contestants for the prize were Mary Ellison, of Sterling, Laura Rupp, of Baldwin; Henry Swanson, of Canfield; Eva Johnson, of Menoken; and Edward Lennan, of Burnt Creek.

The Winchester prize is awarded annually to the eight best graduates of the Burleigh county schools who possess the best knowledge of arithmetic. Their ability is tested by competitive examinations.

The prize is paid from a trust fund established as a memorial to the late Judge Winchester. During his life the judge took an active interest in educational work throughout the county.

AUTO BANDITS STEAL $6,000

Kansas City, July 24.—Charles Ayres, paymaster of the Nicholas Investment company, was held up and robbed of $6,000 by four motor car bandits here this morning. The money was in a grip. He was on his way from a downtown bank to the Country club to pay workmen.

GOOD PASTURE THROUGH STATE

Dr. W. F. Grewe of the Live Stock Sanitary Board stated this morning that conditions were very favorable for live stock this year. The pasture is in good condition and the comparatively large amount of rainfall this year.

Last year there was not sufficient pasture to keep stock in good shape but this year throughout the state generally there is plenty of good grass. No outbreaks of disease have been reported lately and stock in all sections is coming along in good shape.

STAY HOME AND AVOID DIVORCE

San Antonio, Tex., July 24.—"If people stayed at home more there would be fewer divorces," says Judge W. S. Anderson here who has granted 7,000 divorces in seven years on the bench. "We need more divorce laws but what we need most is the education of folks to what marriage means."

MILLION LOAN NEGOTIATED BY STATE'S BANK

Placed in Chicago on Bonds in Hands of the Bank, According to Official

REFUSAL STORY DENIED

The Bank of North Dakota has borrowed $1,000,000 of Chicago financial interests, putting up $1,200,000 of bonds as collateral, it was said today by W. A. Anderson, secretary of the state industrial commission, the loan being authorized by the industrial commission.

Denial was made by Mr. Anderson that any visits had been made by members of the industrial commission to Minneapolis to borrow $2,000,000, or that banks in the Twin Cities had refused to loan money to the bank.

Matures in March
The bank will pay 7 per cent interest on the loan obtained in Chicago and the loan matures on March 15, 1921, he said. The bonds which were put up as collateral are part of the $2,000,000 bonds authorized by the state for the bank and for which the bank is obligated to the state, the bonds being authorized as capital stock for the bank, it is said. The secretary said 7 per cent is the minimum rate of the Federal Reserve bank.

The bank will suffer a net loss of 1 per cent on the loan. Recently there have been heavy withdrawals by counties from the Bank of North Dakota, it is stated, because of payment of sums for roadwork and other bills after the end of the fiscal year. In turn the Bank of North Dakota has withdrawn money from banks throughout the state where the money is deposited. The million dollar loan is made to replenish depositaries because of these withdrawals, it was stated.

Denies Reports
Referring to an article in a Fargo paper that members of the industrial commission had been refused loans in Minneapolis on North Dakota bonds Mr. Anderson said:

"These reports are absolutely false in toto. No member of the industrial commission has been in Minneapolis in connection with this matter or had a refusal, and the story is a fabrication pure and simple."

GRAIN SHIPMENTS IN ABOUT SEPT. 1

Shipments of grain will begin to arrive here about Sept. 1 according to a statement made this morning by the Russell Miller Milling Co. of this city. Montana grain generally starts to come in about that time, but local receipts do not start usually until about Sept. 10.

Preparations are being made for the handling of an extra large quantity of grain this fall.

Whenever a large town in the British Isles changes its source of water supply, a sample is taken by the tea blenders in order that the right blend of tea may be made to suit that particular water.

WOUNDED WIFE ASKED HUSBAND TO MURDER HER

Vancouver Murderer Says That He and Wife Discussed Death After Wounding

PUT FLOWERS ON GRAVE

Wife had Endeavored to Arrange Reconciliation, According to Story

Vancouver, B. C., July 24.—An inquest was scheduled to be held today over the body of Mrs. W. G. Robbins, whose husband has confessed, according to the police, that after mortally wounding his wife Monday night, he discussed a plan to make it appear that Mrs. Robbins had committed suicide, but rejected it "for the sake of the children."

"They decided instead that Robbins should end his wife's life at once, he is alleged to have confessed. Whereupon he fired three shots through her head and concealed the body in underbrush and made daily visits to the spot with flowers until he gave himself up to the police."

Lived Apart
The pair had been living apart and quarreled during a meeting arranged in the hopes of effecting a recent reconciliation, Robbins told the police.

NATIONAL AND STATE ISSUES KEPT SEPARATE

No Nomination is Made For United States Senator or for Congress

Grand Forks, N. D., July 24.—The committee of 21, ending its session here, decided not to endorse any candidates for United States senator in the fall or for congress. It was held that national issues are involved, and that the state and national campaigns should be conducted separately in North Dakota.

In addition to persons endorsed yesterday for election, the committee endorsed J. T. Nelson, of Glenn Ullin, for commissioner of agriculture and labor.

The committee yesterday endorsed J. P. T. O'Connor, of Grand Forks, Democratic nominee for Governor and a mixed ticket of Republicans and Democrats to opposed league candidates in the fall.

NEW ARMY PLAN PROVIDES WAYS OF EXPANSION

Will Revolutionize the Military Methods in America, According to Experts

GUARD IS STRONG FACTOR

Bill Broadens Scope of Reserve Officers Training Corps at Universities

Washington, July 24.—America's military establishment is being practically revolutionized under the terms of the new army reorganization bill which became effective July 1. Army officers say the work will not be completed for some months because of the broad scope of the measure passed at the last session of congress to place the land forces on a permanent peace basis.

While the regular army will contain only 295,000 officers and men scattered over the country and the insular possessions, it will be so arranged in conjunction with the National Guard and the Reserve that rapid expansion of the nation's fighting forces in time of emergency will be possible.

National Guard Strength.
The National Guard will have about 140,000 officers and men, but the strength of the reserve has not yet been worked out and will depend largely on the enlistment of citizens. The regular army reserve as it formerly existed, composed of former enlisted men furloughed to the reserve to complete their enlistment period cannot exist as such on July 1. In its place there is established the enlisted reserve corps and the officers reserve corps. The members of the former, except veterans of the world war, are required to enlist for three years. Veterans of the world war may enlist for only one year.

The officers reserve corps is composed of officers who held temporary or reserve commissions during the war emergency and graduates of the student officers training school.

Reserve Plans.
To accomplish the reorganization of the National Guard and the initial organization of the reserve, the army bill provides for a general committee to be composed of regular army general staff officers and an equal number of reserve or national guard officers. In addition, 52 other committees, representing each state and territory, will arrange the National Guard organization in each state and territory. Some of these committees have not been appointed by the governors and consequently this work has not yet been put under way.

While no full plan of organization has been made public, a tentative plan to be placed before the committees would divide the country into nine districts with an army corps in each. This corps would consist of one regular, one guard and two reserve divisions, so organized that in an emergency the two reserve divisions, which theoretically would be the only ones much below war strength, could be filled up with selective service men. A full quota of officers drawn from the officers reserve corps would be available for these divisions at all times.

17,000 Officers.
The new regular army strength provides for approximately 17,000 commissioned officers. To provide this number about 7,000 reserve and temporary officers have been kept on duty and it is the plan to reach the full officer strength by commissioning about 7,000 such officers and enlisted men in the permanent army. Officers and men to be so commissioned will be selected by a board, known as the Pershing board, headed by General Pershing and including six other officers.

The bill broadens the scope of the reserve officers training corps at the various educational institutions over the country, provides instructors and material for the schools and also authorizes summer camps to last six weeks for advanced training of the student officers. Graduates of the training corps may be commissioned in the organized reserve.

Abolish Two Offices.
The reorganization measure further provides that the head of the militia bureau of the War Department, which under the reorganization has jurisdiction over national guard and reserve affairs, shall be a national (Continued on Page Three)

RESOLUTE TO BE FAVORITE IN LAST RACE

Yacht Series Now Stands a Tie, With Yesterday's Victory by American Sloop

DECIDING RACE MONDAY

Sandy Hook, N. J., July 24.—The fifth international cup race, upon which hangs the fate of America's cup, today was declared off by the regatta committee. The reason given was heavy weather.

As the yachts started back to the shelter of the hook the regatta committee signalled that the race would be held Monday.

The first notice that the race had been postponed when the cup sloops were three miles northwest of the Ambrose channel light ship and were heading in the direction of Sandy Hook. With a 15 to 18 knots breeze blowing it was inferred that skipper did not care to take a chance of being dismasted or wrecked in heavy seas or squally blows.

Toasted Handicap Away
Defender Resolute tossed her six minutes and forty seconds handicap overboard and defeated the British challenger Shamrock IV, boat for boat, in the fourth race of the 1920 regatta for the America's cup yesterday afternoon.

The series now stand at a tie. Shamrock won the first race last Thursday when an accident to Resolute's rigging forced her out white far in the lead. The second attempt, last Saturday, ended in no race, the yachts being unable to get sufficient breeze to take them around the course in the specified six hours.

Shamrock scored the second victory last Tuesday. Resolute came back on Wednesday, running a dead heat with the challenger and winning by her handicap of seven minutes and one second.

Yesterday's race was the fastest in the series so far, Resolute completing the thirty mile triangular course in three hours, 37 minutes and 32 seconds. Shamrock IV followed three minutes and 41 seconds later, but the actual difference in sailing time was only three minutes and 18 seconds. Resolute having led across the starting line by 23 seconds.

Resolute will be the favorite in the race Monday.

SOVIET GRANTS POLISH APPEAL FOR ARMISTICE

Supreme Command Instructed to Begin Negotiations to End the Fighting

GRODNO IS CAPTURED

Bolshevik Pressing Southwesterly Toward Polish Capital, Says Statement

London, July 24.—The soviet government today notified Poland that Soviet army command had been ordered to begin immediately negotiations for an armistice, it is announced in a wireless from Moscow today.

The following telegram was dispatched by the Russian soviet foreign minister to the Polish minister at 1 15 o'clock this morning.

"The Russian soviet government has given orders to the supreme command of the red army to commence immediately with the Polish military command negotiations for the purpose of concluding an armistice and preparing for future peace between the countries."

Will Advise Time
"The Russian command will advise the Polish command as to the place and date of beginning of negotiations."

Another message from chief headquarters staff on the revolutionary military council was sent to the higher military command in Warsaw as follows.

"The supreme command of the red army has received the orders of the Soviet government to enter into negotiations with the Polish military command on the question of an armistice and peace between Russia and Poland. The supreme commander will send a representative furnished with full powers to a place which will be indicated to you by the command of the Russian front who will inform you of the place and the date when the Polish representatives will be invited to attend."

Russian's reply to Poland's application for armistice negotiations brings in sight a possible solution of one of the most serious crises which Europe as a whole and the allied nations in particular have had to face since the signing of the armistice with the Germans in November, 1918.

The official world of allied Europe has been alarmed over the sweep of the Soviet armies through territory held by the Poles to the very border of Poland proper. Furthermore the close approach of the Russians to the German border have additional cause for uneasiness. There existing great uncertainty and apprehension of the effects a touching of German and Soviet frontier lines might have upon the political future of Europe.

SECURE GRODNO
London, July 24.—Occupation of Grodno, 80 miles southwest of Vilna, is announced in the official statement of yesterday on fighting operations, received by wireless from Moscow today. The statement says:

"Our troops occupied Grodno July 23. We have started to force Mien."

CAN'T STEM TIDE
Warsaw, July 24.—The Bolsheviks advancing in the direction of Sokolka west of Grodno, have crossed the Polish boundary line set by the council of ambassadors. Along the railroad in this region the Poles are reported to be fighting to stem the momentum of the southwesterly drive which is swinging the reins toward Poland's capital, but in many cases the tired Poles are compelled to withdraw without much resistance in the face of overwhelming numbers of fresh Bolshevik troops.

FRENCH POSITION EXPLAINED
Paris, July 24.—"The role of the Franco-British mission now on its way to Warsaw," said Premier Millerand, to the senate today, "is to get an accurate idea of the situation to support with every means within its power the newly-formed Polish ministry and to advise us as to the army's needs in material, munitions and in instructors."

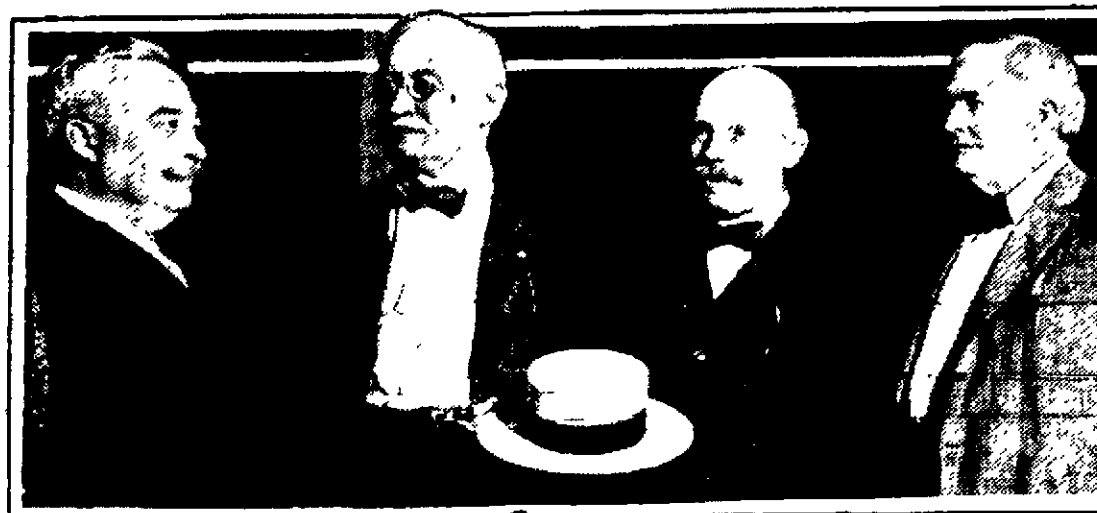

"The mission will do what is possible, even what is impossible, to come to the help of our allies the premier added."

SOVIET FALLS BACK K
Paris, France, July 24.—A wireless from Moscow says that the Soviet army is falling back, under orders from the Bolshevik commanders.

FIRST TOURIST CAMPERS PRAISE CITY'S GROUNDS

Washington Parties Traveling Over Red Trail Spent Night on the Grounds

CONVENIENCES INSTALLED

The first cross-country tourists to take advantage of Bismarck's new camping site are residents of Spokane and Seattle.

They spent last night at the camping ground, which is located upon a plot owned by the state, near the penitentiary. They told representatives of the Commercial club, who arranged for the camping site, that it is an ideal place.

The tourists were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Christopher, who are making an automobile tour from Spokane, Wash. to Chicago and return, traveling over the Red Trail, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Kirsch, of Seattle, who are driving through to St. Paul.

Spot is Shaded

The plot of ground which the state board of administration and Warden Stair permits the club to fit up as a camping ground is shaded by many trees, the soil is sandy and dries quickly, there are no sloughs near to draw mosquitos, and is located directly adjoining the National Parks highway, or Red Trail.

Preparation of the camping site is in charge of a committee composed of Phil Meyer, J. C. Anderson and W. J. Reibold.

Installing Phone

Workmen now are engaged in digging a connection with the water main, a telephone booth has been ordered in, an outdoor stove is being installed and other conveniences provided.

A notice of the camping site, containing a compliment for the progressiveness of Bismarck in providing it, has appeared in the National Parks Highway associations' publication.

They also proposed that a surcharge of 50 per cent be made on pullman fares, that excess baggage rates be increased twenty per cent and that milk tariffs be increased to the same level as freight rates.

MUSIC IN COST OF LIVING

Inhabitants of Densely Populated Flats in New York City Begin to Take Alarm.

Opening windows on the first warm days of the year bring a warning that this will probably be the most musical season New York has ever seen, says the Evening Star of that city. The apartment-house court has always been cosmopolitan in its musical tastes and prone to prodigality in its volume of more or less musical sounds in summer, and this time it appears that not only are all the young men home from the army but that the high cost of everything has also made the apartments more densely inhabited and more continuously so than ever before.

The magnets are lacking that once drew folk away from home in the evening. Beer is negligible as a corner attraction. The movies are more expensive and more tiresome. Soda bears a war tax paid by the dispenser and also charged to the consumer. Home has become a rather forced haven for all and music is being overworked in an attempt to relieve its tedium.

This season we have with us, apparently, not only the phonograph and the player piano—those resources of the musical and unmusical alike—but there is also an apparent return of the child who practices on the piano.

Illuminated Traffic Cop.

With a view to solving the difficulties that beset motorists and traffic officers on Boston streets after nightfall the officers of the First motor corps are conducting experiments throughout the city to make a traffic handler visible to drivers as well as to pedestrians.

An experiment demonstrated that with the help of three light bulbs, which burn continuously, white bands crossed on his breast and long white gauntlets, a traffic officer can be seen by motorists even at the busiest and darkest of corners.

One of the lights is placed on the traffic guard's hat and the other two on his shoulders. They are fed by batteries in the pocket of his overcoat. Both red and white lights have been tried. So far the red lights seem to be more satisfactory.—Boston Globe.

Portable Town Given France.

Many an American tourist will be surprised this summer to find just outside the war-torn city of Lens, France, a quaint Dutch village. The stranger will learn that the village is a gift from the people of Holland to the returning citizens of Lens. The houses, all of wood and of an ingenious, knock-down construction, are now awaiting shipment from the Netherlands, where the parts were sawed and fitted. Assembled, they will shelter in comfort 500 refugees. When all the dwellings are occupied, the Dutch government will send landscape gardeners to lay out flower beds and shrubbery in harmony with the buildings.—Popular Mechanics Magazine

REUNITED IN ARMENIA

Hundreds of Lost Families Being Brought Together.

American Relief Workers Restore Many Broken Homes—Repair War's Ravages.

Constantinople.—Hundreds of Armenian families are being reunited monthly through the efforts of the members of the American committee for relief in the near East, who are scattered throughout the leading cities of Asia Minor, with headquarters here.

In the deportations of the last four years Armenians have been shuttled about before various military movements with the result that nearly every family is searching for news of missing members.

Levon Shamlian, a young Armenian who is now a successful merchant at Balkeshir, recently located his mother and young sister through an advertisement printed in a local paper by Miss Carrie E. Mills of Princeton, N. J., who is directing the American movement to unite Armenian families. Shamlian is preparing a home for them in Balkeshir.

The history of the Shamlian family is typical of the experiences Armenians suffered at the hands of the Turks. They lived in Birlis in the far eastern part of Asia Minor. Levon Shamlian and his father were separated from the rest of the family by the Turks, and Levon was forced to go into the Turkish army, and has never heard from his father.

His grandmother and grandfather were killed. His mother was taken as a servant by Kurds. Serranoush was taken as a maid servant by Kurds. The mother and daughter came upon each other unexpectedly in the American refuge at Aintab, both having walked hundreds of miles and suffered terrible hunger and hardship in their search for relatives and safety.

Lists of orphans will also be printed in Armenian papers in Armenia, in the hope of finding homes for thousands of homeless children who may have friends or relatives in America. The American committee had nearly 30,000 orphans in the Constantinople district alone, and nearly twice that number in the Beirut area.

HANSON UNFOLDS WORKING OF THE SEATTLE REDS

Chicago, July 23.—Intimacies of the Seattle strike in 1919 and the attempt to overthrow the city government were related today by Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle testifying against 20 alleged members of the Communist labor party on trial here. Mr. Hanson testified yesterday said he attended a mass meeting of agitators in Seattle when the use of bullets in overthrowing the city administration was advocated. "They were greatly pleased to learn of the death of Theodore Roosevelt," Mr. Hanson said.

Ole Hanson gave up a $7,500 a year job as mayor of Seattle in order to earn a living for his family, he told the jury. He said he made $1,500 with 100 lectures after leaving the Seattle office.

Mr. Hanson was cross-examined by the defense. The defense ignored the Seattle general strike which Hanson had described in his direct evidence

NEW AID TO FIREMEN

SUGAR FIRE ATTRACTS BEES

Marseilles Workmen Can't Get Near Heap of Caramel to Dump It Into the Water.

Paris.—Honey should be more abundant than ever in France this year. This is due not so much to any special sweetness in the flower juices nor ever to any exceptional assiduity of the French bees, but to an immense fire which melted into caramel hundreds of sacks of sugar stored in the American Red Cross warehouse on the waterfront at Marseilles.

Before workers hired by the Red Cross warehousemen could begin removing the debris, bees from all parts of southern France started flocking to the caramel mountain. As early batches returned to their hives loaded down with honey material, other multi rules got wind of the easy picking with the result that shovelmen who were ordered to dump the caramel in to the water have been kept at a distance until the present time. Huge bonfires are now kept going to keep off the bees, but still they come.

BLOW AIMED AT MONOPOLY HELD AT FEW PORTS

U. S. Shipping Board Plans to Break Up System by Distributing Business

Washington, July 23.—Monopoly of shipping held by a few large Atlantic seaports is to be broken up by the Shipping board and the shipping business distributed among the various ports of the country, Chairman Benson declared last night in an address at the opening session of the School of Pan-American and Foreign Commerce.

Would Reduce Freight Jam.

"In planning steamship service, under the new transportation act, the board proposes to break up the monopoly heretofore held by a few Atlantic seaports," said Chairman Benson. "Services will be maintained at American ports with a view to relieving congestion of railroads and bringing goods to the seaports nearest the point of consumption. Monopoly of shipping heretofore held by large seaports has retarded the development of the merchant marine. The bad facilities for the loading and discharging of vessels and the spirit of indifference of many commercial interests have done much to curb proper growth of the shipping interests in this country. By logically spreading shipping, the spirit of competition will be aroused among the various seaports of this land, to the advantage of all."

U. S. Built Ships Stand Test.

Government-built ships were said by Admiral Benson to be standing the wear and tear of peace service, disproving, he said, the criticism that, due to the emergency construction program, the vessels were of emergency character. The bulk of the tonnage is not only seaworthy but of an efficient type.

that her mother, Roy, was the father of the child.

Guy Sheldon is a brother of Ted Sheldon, who later married Frances Sheldon.

A suggested motive for the trouble, which seems to have gained a good deal of ground here, is that the Sheltons grew tired of Frances Clayton and are pushing the trial. Then when things have quieted down again a plea for a divorce might be filed with the present trouble as grounds. This is merely the opinion of the town, and can be taken only as county seat gossip.

Like Clayton

Around the court house sentiment runs strongly in favor of Roy Clayton and the defense. Officially holding forth there say that Clayton has been an exceptional prisoner while in the basement jail. The majority of them speak of him as a "decent young fellow" and blame the sister for the entire trouble.

It was hoped that something might come out in yesterday's trial which would furnish a basis for proceeding with the hunt for the bodies and furnish evidence for the trial against the older Clayton.

The states attorney was disappointed in expectation, as nothing was brought out during the trial which could be used against the father. If anything results from the present case it may be that the daughter's testimony will be attacked.

JOHNSON WARNS G. O. P. ON THE LEAGUE ISSUE

Says Nominee Must Take Firm Position in Defense Against Wilson Treaty

SAYS ITS THE BIG ISSUE

Boston, July 23.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, in a letter to Bancroft Abbott, leader of the Johnson forces in the pre-convention campaign in this state, which was made public said that Senator Harding in his speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination for the presidency should "honestly, frankly and courageously take his position in favor of the Americanism that is ours," he could "cheerfully and enthusiastically go forward with the Republican party."

If in his speech of acceptance, "he should evade the issue," Senator Johnson added, "a most difficult situation will be presented to men like myself."

Says Republicans Met Issue.

The Republican platform plank on the League of Nations, Senator Johnson said, "was not such as I would have written, but nevertheless its language seemed to me capable of but one construction."

"The issue, which has engrossed me for so long and which has become a part of my life, seems to have been met by both platforms, the Republicans assuming the position I have taken from the first, and the Democrats the contrary position in favor of the league."

"Under these circumstances it seems to me that men who viewed this overshadowing issue as I did could consistently follow but one course and that was the acceptance of the party opposing the league and opposition to the party approving it."

Willing to Declare Truce.

"I do not wish you to think for one instant that I am unmindful of the conditions which obtained at Chicago, or the system which we saw, in its ugly nakedness, exemplified there; nor do I forget the men who represented that system."

"Because of the big thing, I am willing for a period to declare a truce upon these men, but you may be certain that in the short time I shall remain in public life, my work henceforth will be to attack the system and to hold up to public obloquy the men who have founded such a cynical and contemptuous disregard of the expressed will of the people."

CANNED MEAT TO BE OFFERED

Washington, July 23.—In an effort to combat the high cost of living, the war department soon is to place millions of dollars' worth of canned meats on the market at prices below even pre-war quotations, said an announcement today from the office of the division of sales.

HOT DAYS MAKE WORK FOR CITY LAW GUARDIANS

Report of Police Magistrate Shows Many Arrests Made and Fines Assessed

The monthly report of Police Magistrate R. H. Howell indicates that the Bismarck police force is finding plenty to do these hot days.

The report for the month of June shows that the total fines assessed by the magistrate were $73 and the costs $52.95, making total collections of $125.95. The records thus far for July indicated that the amount for this month will be much higher.

The offenses include six cases of drunkenness, or disorderly conduct, six cases of speeding, the forfeiture of a bond of $10 put up by a speeder, one case of vagrancy and one case of harboring a dog without a license and refusal admittance to a police office to premises.

Every speeder arrested was fined, the usual fine being $5 and costs, which made the total $8.95. A material lessening of violations of the motor speed law and reckless driving has been noticed because of the activity of the police along this line, in the opinion of many citizens.

Wm. Smith, one of the men who appeared before police magistrate, received a sentence of 30 days in jail for vagrancy, but this was suspended on his promise that he would go to work.

Police departments always expect work to increase during hot weather. The weather makes people quarrelsome and prone to run afoul of the law in many instances.

EXPLAINS HOW BUREAU FUNDS ARE HANDLED

McDonald Indicates Reserve of Compensation Bureau May Greatly Increase

NEW RATES ARE MADE

Mining Company Insurance Is Lowered and Buildings Trades Insurance Increased

The funds of the North Dakota Workmen's Compensation bureau, which now attacked as being beyond the needs of the bureau and a penalty upon industry, may increase until the funds amount to millions of dollars under the plan of procedure explained by S. S. McDonald, commissioner.

The amount of money derived in one year from the insurance must be sufficient to care for the payments allowed to disabled workmen in that year until the payments are finished, Mr. McDonald said. It is the plan to allow the interest derived to pay the operating expenses of the bureau.

The bureau received $252,651.94 during the fiscal year ending July 1, the first year of the operation of the law, and expended $103,055, leaving approximately $149,596.94 on hand.

In several cases claims for permanent injuries were allowed, under which rulings persons will draw payments from the bureau for the rest of their life. The case of Guy Blake, injured in a dynamite explosion in Burleigh county, was cited as an instance

THE NEEDLE, WATSON

Washington, July 24.—Professor W. F. Shepherd has a pet chimpanzee who can thread a needle as well as any man—awkwardly, but eventually. The photographer snapped the ape while he was holding a needle between his nose and his left hand and slipping the thread through the eye with his right hand. Shepherd's pet can also sew buttons on his uniform.

of the manner in which the system operates.

Blake is blind, his hands were blown off and he is allowed two-thirds of his average weekly salary for the remainder of his life, or $18 a week. Figuring that he will live 39 years, under the American mortality table, he will receive during his life-time $38,501 from the workmen's compensation bureau.

Must Have Reserve
Enough money collected from Burleigh county—he was a county employee—during the last year must be considered as a reserve fund to pay this amount, Mr. McDonald said.

Rates each year will be based on past experience and upon the amount of liabilities incurred in the preceding year, the commissioner added. To care for obligations which will not be discharged for, in some cases, 30 or 40 years, the funds, therefore, may accumulate until the bureau has on hand millions of dollars.

The bureau also has evolved a plan of penalizing individual firms which have a greater percent of accidents than normal, Mr. McDonald said. A system of merits and demerits for the number of accidents is to be used in the future, and the firm will be rated higher or lower than the average rate of compensation insurance for that particular branch of industry.

Rates Vary
Rates for the year from July 1, 1926, will vary in some instances from the rates of last year.

Rates are increased for the building trades, the commissioner said. The largest percent of accidents during the year was in this line of industry, he added. Rates on printing establishments are said to be the same. Rates on mining companies are lowered because of a smaller percent of accidents than was figured, he said. The mining rate is reduced from $4.95 to $4.70 on each $100 of the payroll. Mr. McDonald said. Rates to telephone companies also are to be lowered.

Many companies did not come under the provisions of the law although it is compulsory. No cases have been filed against those who did not pay the insurance. Mining companies, or other companies which did not come under the provisions of the law last year but do come this year, are to be penalized by an added rate, with a refund at the end of the year on the excess of what the first year's rate amounted to, it was explained.

The number of claims allowed by the bureau during the first year was about 1,000. The North Dakota rates are the highest of any state, the commissioner said.

LIVES IN MEMORY

New Yorker Recalls Delightful Evening With Twain.

Satisfied That He Saw Great Humorist at His Best When He Sat by the Fireside and Smoked With Him.

It is only about forty years since I spent a most delightful evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clemens at their newly-built home in Hartford, yet the Sun and New York Herald refers to the house as "one of the oldest residences in New England from the point of construction," says the writer of a letter to that newspaper.

Undoubtedly your reporter wrote that it was "one of the oddest," and he was right. The types were guilty of a characteristic prank.

We sat in front of a goodly old-fashioned fireplace and smoked such tobacco as Mark liked—that is, he and I did—in the long-winded clay pipes they call churchwardens, while Mrs. Clemens looked on with smiling toleration, contributing the gracious charm of her presence to the entertainment he was giving to a casual guest who had scant claim to the hospitality he was enjoying. I had called as a stranger on professional business and had been received socially.

Clemens was at his best—and let me say that best was never bettered by anyone else. His monologue of narrative and vignettes was drawn out through a long evening, as I laughed and Mrs. Clemens smiled, and Mark busied himself cleaning, burning out and filling pipe after pipe—there were a dozen of them standing in the corner of the fireplace—and handing them to me or lighting one for himself as fast or even faster than they were needed. There were two of them alight all the time.

I wish I could remember what he said, but I can recall only one remark, and that was too trivial to repeat, though I laughed at it as heartily as I did at all the other nonsense. It was not what he said so much as the way he said it.

P. T. Barnum, the great showman, told me that he, too, kept on laughing all the time Mark Twain talked to him. "But my wife doesn't," he said. "Mrs. Barnum has not a very keen sense of humor and she is a little afraid of laughing at the wrong time, so she sometimes seems unappreciative when Mark is really funny even for him."

"She has found out for herself, though, a pretty good rule to go by," he continued. "You see, she and I frequently visit with Mr. and Mrs. Clemens, and I noticed after a while that she was always watching Mrs. Clemens, so I asked her why she did it, and she told me that it was because Mrs. Clemens did not always laugh as other people did when Mark spoke. 'But when she laughs,' said Mrs. Barnum, 'I know it must be really funny, so I laugh, too.'"

"I call that pretty shrewd," continued the old showman with one of his own hearty ha-has, "and I took to doing the same thing myself. It worked well. I must say, for I noticed after a while that Mrs. Clemens never laughed excepting at the very best of Mark's jokes. I suppose she must have got tired laughing all the time before that."

I knew the great man for a long time after that wonderful evening, but I never felt that I knew him any better.

Columbian German Theater.

One of the world's most colossal theaters, and by far the most bizarre, is the great auditorium recently opened in Berlin. The dreary exterior of the building is monstrous, but gives little promise of the surprise within. The curving walls of the foyer, says an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine for May, merge into a domed roof, supported by carved mahogany columns. The upper portion of each column is flanked by many disks that radiate orange and blue light from concealed bulbs. The auditorium itself suggests the Greek open-air amphitheater. The 8,000 seats are arranged in horseshoe plan around an arena, or more properly, an orchestra.

Cheese Expert Doomed.

Senor Capablanca has set up as remarkable a record as ever was made in any sport in his chess exhibitions in Great Britain and Ireland. His total score in 1,252 games is 1,253 wins, 71 draws, and 28 losses. His opponents have included all the best English players. He takes them on thirty or more at a time. To each move on the board of nine squares, his victims average of nine seconds, his victims six minutes. Recalling the tragic history of the great chess experts, of Morphy and others, one asks fearfully, when will Capablanca go insane?—New York Globe.

Made Vacation Profitable.

A unique vacation was that of Dr. William Goodwin, superintendent of the general hospital at Staten Island, who camped for one month in the maple orchard of Frank Taylor of Harwinton, Conn. He combined business with pleasure, worked nights as well as days and made seventy-six gallons of maple syrup.

ROY CLAYTON IS FOUND INNOCENT; SEARCH GOES ON

Father, Accused of Murders, Is Released on $1,000 Bail Last Night.

CASE NEEDS SKELETONS

Girl's Story Failed to Convict Son; Father Faces Her Story Only, So Far

Steele, N. D., July 24.—"Not Guilty" was the verdict brought in by the jury in the case of Roy Clayton, charged with criminal assault of his sister in the Kitter district court. The jury went out at noon yesterday and brought in their verdict of not guilty at 4 p. m. Roy Clayton was released on $1,000 bail for home with his father, James C. Clayton. The father is accused with the murder of Ed Leitzke and a child of his daughter and criminal assault of his daughter. He was released yesterday on $1,000 bail.

The trial of the father is set for the next term of court.

Search Keeps On

Meanwhile search is still being made for the bodies of Leitzke and the baby, Mrs. Sheldon, Guy and Ted Sheldon, and J. C. Loerch, relatives of Leitzke, are leading in the diggings of the skeletons.

So far no trace of the skeletons have been found. Unless they are discovered it seems extremely doubtful whether the case against the father can be made to hold water. In the trial of Roy Clayton, just ended, the story told by Frances Sheldon was the main evidence presented by the state. Her "confession" regarding the alleged murder of 20 people is at present the only evidence which state's attorney George Nussan will admit against the father. The state's attorney took the witness stand in the recent trial and made definite accusations against her brother. The state put her sister on the stand to try to strengthen and verify the evidence.

Jury Not Convinced
But the jury did not believe that her brother was guilty, as she charged. Their verdict shows that they either did not believe the girl's story or else discounted it to a large degree.

The case against the father, James C. Clayton, at present rests on the accusations of his daughter, the same Mrs. Sheldon.

She failed to convince the one jury that her brother was guilty. Whether she can make the jury believe her accusations against her father or not remains to be seen.

For these reasons the state is especially anxious to discover the skeletons of some of the people whom are claimed to have been murdered. With added evidence they believe they could go to court with some expectation of securing a conviction. Without it, they believe the case against Mrs. Frances Sheldon remains.

Residents of Steele seem to believe that the utterances of Frances Clayton (Mrs. Sheldon) should be taken with a good deal of "salt." Her story may have basis, but local people want to be shown additional evidence before they believe it. Meanwhile the search is being kept up in the hopes of locating some of the bodies, if there are any, buried. The Sheldon family is leading in the search, at the Clayton farm, 7 miles southwest of here. An abandoned well is the center of operations now.

SERVANT PROBLEM, NEW ONE TO EUROPE, NOW CENTER OF TALK

Women Who Went Into Factories During War Have Not Returned to Old Domestic Vocations

Paris, July 24.—The servant problem, new to Europe, is sharing newspaper space and private discussion in France with high taxes and revolutions. The women who went into factories during the war have not returned to the broom and the pots. The government tax on servants, definitely included in the new tax bill, is the least of the trouble but it served to bring out long, loud complaints that there are few servants. Employers profess to be willing to pay double and triple pre-war wages and to recognize the servants' new standard of demands.

Unlike the American housewife the French have not yet taken for granted the general use of electric and gas equipment, washing machines, patent kitchen cabinets and all the rest of the labor savers that give advertisers the courage to print pretty pictures of the young bride in a lace apron getting dinner to the music of a phonograph, while reading a book in the breeze of an electric fan.

France is taking the servant shortage seriously. Erudite surveys of Indo-China and French Africa are being published to show the availability of other races for employment. The army of the congregate carries the offers of better wages from an employer to the maid of her best friend.

4,800 CARS ARE NEEDED TO MOVE S. D. GRAIN CROP

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 24.—A committee appointed by the South Dakota Bankers' association has gathered data as to the number of cars which will be needed to move the 1926 grain crop in that state.

It is estimated that 4,800 cars will be needed. The supply of cars for the next 30 days will not be sufficient, according to present indications. The figure reported are:

Number of cars ordered, 800.
Amount of grain in elevators, 1,750,000 bu.
Grain to be delivered in 20 days, 1,500 cars.
One thousand cars have been ordered for the next 30 days, but these figures show that 3,000 cars will be necessary if the crop is to be moved.

HEADWAY MADE BY BLACK RUST IN WET LANDS

Progressed in Late Sown Wheat in Spite of Unfavorable
Weather

ONLY TRACES IN NO. DAK.

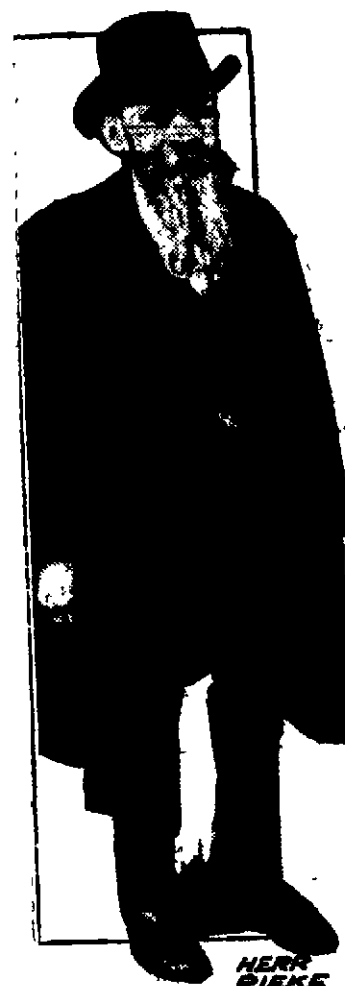

The report of the Van Dusen Harrington company, of Minneapolis for the northwest, dated July 21, is as follows:

"Black rust has made headway during the past week, especially in eastern South Dakota and the southern half of Minnesota. This is the wet territory mentioned in our previous reports as being subject to rust under certain conditions. The weather apparently was unfavorable for rust, but it has progressed especially in the late sown wheat, which has suffered severely. Much of the early wheat has advanced to the hard dough stage and will probably be shrunk to some extent. Durum wheat is comparatively free of rust. While practically all of this territory is effected, there are some good spots as well as bad ones, and we will probably see quite a range in quality of wheat from this territory. One of our Southern Minnesota correspondents who reported unfavorably a week ago, advises that some of the early wheat has been cut and he felt that the outcome there would be better than expected.

"Traces of rust have been found also in North Dakota. Apparently no damage has been done so far, but as wheat is late and from two to three weeks from maturity in North Dakota with unfavorable weather, there may also be some damage there.

affected by black rust. The heads were small and showed considerable damage, but we found this condition due to blight and not rust. We fear the crop may be damaged to some extent by blight throughout the territory.

"Many of the valleys in Montana have wonderful crops but in northern Montana, especially the western and central parts, conditions are very poor. In the northeastern part of the state the crop has undoubtedly been reduced by the dry weather, and rains are needed very badly. This condition also applies to northwestern North Dakota as well as a number of local districts throughout the state. From a careful survey of the situation, the northwestern wheat crop at present is very spotted in all four states. There are districts that have excellent prospects and there are others that are very poor.

"Good For Corn.
"The past few days have been warmer and favorable for corn. This crop as a rule has developed very fast, and conditions are favorable for a fine crop with the exception of a few spots where it was drowned out. "Oats and barley as a rule are excellent and cutting has already started. Indications are for one of the best oat crops this territory has ever had. The flax condition remains about the same. In some of the dry spots rain is needed to get the best results, but very little of it shows damage at the present time, except in northwestern North Dakota and Northeastern Montana.

Why Cox and Harding will Make League Chief Issue

Both candidates on the Democratic ticket declare that they will make their chief fight on the League of Nations issue. Replying, Senator Harding says that since "the President demands a campaign on this issue," since "the Democratic platform makes the issue paramount," and since "the Democratic candidates unqualifiedly acquiesce," then "the Republican party and candidates gladly accept the challenge." Altho the candidates have thus joined issue over the League of Nations there are independent publicists who agree that many citizens will vote their party ticket quite irrespective of what Governor Cox and Senator Harding may say about the League, and instead of the coming election being a great national referendum on the League of Nations it will be, in the opinion of The Lowell Courier-Citizen, "simply on which party is to be trusted—the Democrats after their prolonged exhibition of their quality or the Republicans after their prolonged absence, which may have made the heart grow fonder."

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, July 24th, throws many side-lights upon the reasons why the candidates are pushing the League of Nations to the front as a dominant issue, and it will be highly interesting and instructive reading to the American voter just now.

DISAPPEARING BED WILL BE FEATURE OF GOTHAM FLATS

Announcement Says "Disappearing Beds and Many Other Labor Saving Devices Will be Installed" in New $450,000 Apartment

New York, July 24.—Residents of Manhattan island, in their eternal fight for space, have perked up their ears at the announcement by a New York realty syndicate that it will build a $450,000 apartment house, whose distinguishing feature will be "disappearing beds." Officials of the syndicate are silent as to what form the "disappearing beds" will take during the day time. They dismiss the matter by saying that "disappearing beds and many other labor saving devices will be installed."

Architects, however, have given their opinion on the proposed innovation.

The beauty of "disappearing beds," the architects say, is that the bed cannot disappear while the occupant is lying in it on his back, with his knees up and his mouth open. This was the chief drawback to the old-fashioned folding bed. The architects made this statement to quiet the fears of many New York residents who had inquired as to whether the "disappearing beds" were similar to the old-fashioned folding bed, or contained any of the latter's cranky and uncertain tendencies.

The architects say that a "disappearing bed" is a bed at night and an oil painting of a Gordon setter or something like that in the day time, that it can be slipped under the bath room floor or tucked away behind the aquarium, or that it may be sunk into a trap door in the floor and an Oriental rug placed over it so that the tell-tale cracks may not be seen. The apartment house of the "disappearing beds," the syndicate announces, is to be built on West End avenue, Manhattan.

The increased importation of clocks and watches into China in 1919 may be estimated from the fact that during the year 38,839 clocks and 83,262 watches were imported through Shanghai alone.

What a Young Bride Learned About the Washday Problem

This is a true story about laundry service, and a bride. It was just a year ago that this young wife set up housekeeping. What to do with the family washing was one of her first problems. Many of her neighbors, she observed, did their washing at home—so bride-like, she followed their example. And she applied to her housekeeping, also, the budget system for family expenditures she had learned at school.

At the end of a year she summed up the bills for starch, soap, fuel, electric current, and other incidentals, added in her own time at 25 cents an hour—about half what a laundress would have charged—and discovered that it had cost her $188 in money alone to do her washing at home.

The next day she invited us to call for her family bundle—the testimony of her budget book couldn't be disputed—it proved the false economy of home washday methods.

And a majority of the other thinking housewives in this young woman's neighborhood—the women who have stopped to reckon the REAL cost of washday at home—have joined her in entrusting their family washings to us.

May we introduce you to this family laundry service that so nicely combines efficiency with economy? Remember our Dry Cleaning Department. All work done under our guarantee. Phone us today.

NEW INCE CO-STARS IN SCREEN VERSION OF "MARY'S ANKLE"

Douglas MacLean and Doris May to be seen in Mary Tully's Well Known Comedy

Youth and high spirits are the predominating notes in the Thomas H. Ince production "Mary's Ankle" which is coming to the Bismarck theatre tonight. Douglas MacLean and Doris May, who made such an auspicious debut as co-stars in "Twenty-three and a Half Hours' Leave" are the featured players. The picture is an adoption of May Tully's hilarious stage play of the same name.

The story is about a Doc Hampton, young and impetuous, who meets a girl on Tag Day and falls in love with her. In order to claim an inheritance from his rich uncle, Doc has fake wedding announcements sent out. His bluff is called, the uncle informing him that he will be on hand to inspect the bride and take them on a honeymoon to Honolulu. In the emergency, fate throws the Tag Day girl across Doc's path. He persuades her to pose as his bride, and later, of course, she makes good the deception by falling in love with her pretended husband.

BIG CHANGE NOTED

Life in Country Today Compared to Twenty Years Ago.

Custom of Sleeping Outdoors, for instance, is Growing—What the "Movies" and "Canned Music" Have Accomplished.

Twenty years ago the inhabitants of outlie villages, up in New York state at least, seemed to fear fresh air at night and slept with their windows closed. Night air was not healthful they said—and a lot of them lived to be ninety-seven even on that theory. The window sashes were nailed down and stuffed with rags at the first sign of snow and we slept under those conditions.

In those days if anyone had practiced sleeping outdoors, even in summer weather, it would have caused a sensation. "Cracked, I swan!" the old farmers would have said.

The change came gradually, presumably because the sons and daughters of the old residents went to work in the large centers where opened windows were, if not the rule, surely the exception, remarks a writer in the New York Evening Sun. Now the complete change hits one fairly in the face when he returns to the once airless districts of early youth.

Night and day now the windows are wide open and sometimes even doors are never closed; no one thinks of living without screens and mosquito netting, even the poor in hollows and by-lanes. The families frequently eat outdoors under the old apple tree, on red and white table covers or on a bare scrubbed board. Like the omnipresent flyver that carries the clerk and his family to picnics along the roadside, the outdoor-eating habit has done wonders for the health and happiness of all, particularly the country folk.

Out-of-doors sleeping is now well nigh a habit. Hardly a porch in that country nowadays is complete without a khaki swing couch, a made-up cot or one of the old-time hard, haircloth "sofas" with pillows and a patchwork quilt or two, ready for the sleeper. Most of these were hung with mosquito net curtains, looped back by day.

Nowadays on these outdoor couches are seen reclining in daytime the old man of the family, lying at full length with his bare feet toasting in the sun. Twenty years ago he would have slept in the darkened parlor behind closed shutters, or, if very toothy, he might have been caught by watchful eyes of his family napping under the old apple tree.

Yes, the country has come on! But outdoor sleeping by rural children has not yet arrived. Here the farmer's wife draws the line. It may be all right for grandpa and herself and husband, but she is not yet sure about the night air for little lungs. So children's cots are not seen upon the porches. They still sleep within four walls and a ceiling.

The city and large towns have come to this airy regime through years of propaganda in newspapers, in churches and in social centers. The country absorbed it through newspapers and magazines.

But if there has been a notable change in the attitude of farm and village folk toward fresh air there has been an even greater change in their social life. The small town of twenty years ago is not the small town of today. Then they had church societies. They may still have them, but I do not know where. There used to be buggy rides and prayer meetings, and the greatest dissipation of the younger villagers was "going walking," with a possible "soddy" at the corner drug store. Booth Tarkington depicts these rural scenes truthfully, but his pointed view is now out of date.

The movies and "canned" music have recreated village life. Even in those families where there is no automobile life is a far pleasanter thing than it was twenty years ago. The movies entertain the whole family. And in the evenings, when the movies fall, the average soda fountain draws not with ice-cream cones and candy alone but with a rollicking, jazzing mechanical player. The drug store has become largely a refreshment parlor; it is now a social center. Young and old meet there and strolling and loafing have gone into the discard.

The closing of saloons may have helped, but even before prohibition the lulling notes of music boxes in ice cream parlors began to woo the villagers.

Twenty years ago never was there such joyousness in country life, such clothes worn by the young girls, such sang-froid among the boys, such naive sophistication upon all. There spoke the screen in Mary Pickford curls, in styles of an extremity. In a youth's case in a girl's vamps' slouch. And all the joy life. That is the secret of the change that has come over village habits of living. The cheap cost of the photoplay and the graphophone has taught the public in out-of-the-way places to get into the game; to live joyously.

Wood Strong, Though Light.
Tests of balsa wood by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology showed a strength fully one-half as great as spruce. Yet this Equatorial wood weighs only 73 pounds per cubic foot, while cork weighs 137 pounds. The wood is stated to be practically pure cellulose, with no lignification, the strength being due to its structure of large barrel-shaped cells.

NO, IT'S NOT NEGLIGENCE—IT'S AFTERNOON COSTUME

BY CORA MOORE.
New York's Fashion Authority
New York, July 24. To the uninitiated eye this may appear to be a glorified negligee. Not so—instead it is a three-piece costume designed for afternoon and evening wear. Granger made it and gave it a name. The "Garden of Dreams" it is called, and introduces the charming idea of stenciling as a decorative medium for gowns.

The coat is a separate garment and could be worn over any other light frock of plain material. The skirt of cream georgette has a nine-inch foot band of horizon blue chiffon with a stencilled design of full-blown roses and their leaves just above it. The bodice with its long, flowing sleeves of georgette and its square-cut neck, is attached to it underneath a narrow belt with a stencilled decoration.

Then the coat is fashioned on kimono lines and made to assume a studied sort of carelessness, with shorter sleeves and a loosely tied trailing belt.

Woman "Called" Etn. Pasha.
Enver Pasha, the most autocratic and arrogant of the committee of union and progress was obliged to listen to the protests of Turkish women against the large number of casualties in the Dardanelles and Bagdad campaigns. He called together the bereaved mothers and reminded them that their sons were among the faithful in paradise, and that they should be proud and pleased to be the mothers of such brave patriots.

One poor mother, bent with age and beyond caring for herself, dared to cry back to the man more feared by Turk and Christian alike than anyone else in the empire: "Marshallah, effendi! (May it please God, your excellency), that your mother may soon have this same pride and pleasure that we have."—Barnett Miller, in Asia.

The Modern "Washlady."
The wash-woman problem is a difficult one these days, all housekeepers will agree. But one Columbus family has more to worry about than some of the rest.

Several days ago their wash was late in coming back from the "washlady" and when she finally did come with the clothes, in answer to the question as to why she was late, she stated:

"Well, you see we have a new automobile and the weather has been so nice that we have been taking motor trips every day."

Now the housewife is wondering what will happen to her washing when summer comes. It is of further interest to explain that the poor woman who is trying to have her washing done owns no automobile—Columbus Dispatch.

Electricity to Thaw Ground.
The electric ground-thawing device used in Alaskan railroad building has the form of a hollow steel pile. This has a sharpened steel point at one end and a solid steel driving head at the other, and the hollow body contains a suitable resistance coil. The pointed tube is driven like any pile into the frozen ground to the required depth. Connection is then made with a power transmission line through a portable transformer mounted on a sledge and a low-volt current of high amperage is passed through the coil. The heat soon thaws the surrounding ground sufficiently for driving a wooden pile.

Utilizing Wood Waste.
The utilization of wood waste is one way recommended to cut down the high cost of living. Here are some articles made from sawdust and shingle waste which the New York College of Forestry is exhibiting in its efforts to show how the waste of the sawmill can be utilized to cheapen the cost of living. "Silk" socks, sausage casings, phonograph records, paper, milk bottles and tankard shingles. The "silk" looks like silk and feels like silk, but is much cheaper than silk. The sausage casings are made by treating the wood with chemicals that turn it into viscose, and rolling this into thin films.

Rather Slow.
"Ten't Jackson a bit slow?" asked Lerric.
"Slow" exclaimed Yaffiloh, who lived in the same boarding house. "An elephant could take a sponge bath and bathe a body message while Jack was washing his face!"—Judge.

In the effort to reach the scene of a train hold up, the star in the role of Dan Kurnik takes a short cut and in order to be on time makes the death-leaving leap. He is a target for the bullets from the bandit's guns as he starts to win his horse across the river and to save the animal he stands it back and strikes out alone. As a bullet passes his head he dives and the light think he is lost. Then he wades under water and comes out in time to turn the tables and save the treasure train doubly so because it is the girl he loves better than his own life.

The picture abounds in thrills and in human interest—a quality that insures its reception by the public.

YOUR BOY
Some day your boy will do something out of the usual run of things, and it may be that you'll feel the youngster needs a session with the strap reserved for unruly outbreaks.
But before you apply the strap think of Tom Edison.
When that great inventor was 6 years old he was missing from home. Later his folks found him sitting on goose eggs trying to hatch them. Before he was 10 he had burned a barn—"just to see it burn," chopped off a finger, was nearly drowned, and had administered a liberal dose of seidlitz powders to another boy, confident that the gas generated would cause the lad to fly.
Tom Edison was what they called a "bad boy." Once he was publicly whipped in the village square as a warning to other boys.
And now look at him!
Don't be too sure your boy needs a whipping just because he has done something you wouldn't have done.
You may deprive posterity of a Tom Edison by curbing too severely the boy's desire to experiment, to try out things, to explore, to discover.

WHICH?
Girls, which would you choose: A husband who makes $2000 a year, or a job at which you earn $200 a week?
Bessie B. Parker had to make that choice. Bessie had been private secretary to Roger W. Babson, the economist and statistician whose articles in this newspaper are familiar to readers.
Seventeen years ago Bessie applied to Babson for a job. He hired her at $5 a week. Now she gets $200 a week as his secretary.
But along came Elroy L. Powers of Norwood, Mass., whose salary does not reach $2000 a year. And then Bessie found that in addition to being a private secretary, she is also a woman, and she fell in love with Elroy L. Powers and he with her.
And so it came to a choice; marriage and sharing $2000 a year or a position that pays $200 a week?
She chose—Elroy L. Powers!
"I am going to make keeping house and baking and mending my career," she said. "I think it is what a woman should do. A woman must be fair to the man she marries. If business is her first love and her highest interest, she should not marry."

TOO GOOD?
Seventy years ago pioneers blazed the path to what is now Orange township, in the state of Iowa. After them came their sons and daughters, and still other settlers. Now there are some 800 men, women and children living on farms of the township.
But that isn't the remarkable thing to mention.
Orange township never has had a saloon, a drunkard, a pauper, a dance hall, a justice of the peace, a crime, a constable, a lawyer, a lawsuit, or a neighborhood quarrel. There never was a fight in the township, and no citizen ever was accused of cheating another, or refusing to pay his debts, nor of speaking an untruth of another.
Orange township covers 36 square miles. People who live there insist it is the nearest approach to Heaven to be found on earth. And yet, according to the latest census statistics, Orange township has made no appreciable gain in population. One Michigan town gained over a thousand per cent. How do you account for that?
Can it be that the human beings would rather live in a high-wage locality where they have crimes and policemen, dance halls and lawyers, than in a close approach to "Heaven on earth?"

PUBLIC JOBS
The declining value of the public job should be giving political bosses in cities something to worry about.
They built and have held their organizations together by patronage. And by controlling thus the economic fortunes of their followers they have been able to command loyalty and obedience.
Their office-holders have comprised the so-called vest-pocket vote that is always dependable. These, together with relatives and friends anxious to help them hold their jobs, have made a considerable voting unit.
Until recent years a city job paying $1200 to $1500 a year was regarded as a highly desirable plum. Indeed, minor jobs at city halls generally paid better than any job a man of the average small office-holder's ability could get in private industry.
But today conditions are reversed. Many cities report office-holders resigning to take better paying private jobs.

Municipal governments, financially strapped, are unable to compete in the labor market with better paying industrial concerns, so that several cities have been obliged to advertise for workmen to serve the municipality—an unheard of thing in American cities where hitherto the man has sought the job, however small.
All of which means that bad times are ahead for politicians whose influence is based on the cohesive power of public jobs.
This is not a bad condition for American city governments that have suffered so much from political control exercised for the sake of the jobs.

LITTLE EVA
Had Little Eva been permitted to round out her life—she died at 11—she would this year be 81 years old, for it was 70 years ago this month that Harriet Beecher Stowe began to write "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Little Eva died in one of the earlier chapters.
The seventieth anniversary of Mrs. Stowe's classic finds a generation of readers to whom Uncle Tom is but a name and who have never wept for Little Eva at her death-bed.
"The large blue eyes unclosed—a smile passed over her face; she tried to raise her head, and to speak.
"Do you know me, Eva?"
"Dear papa," said the child with a last effort, throwing her arms about his neck. In a moment they dropped again; and as St. Claire raised his head, he saw a spasm of mortal agony pass over her face—she struggled for breath and threw up her little hands."
Somehow after 30 the heart does not react to the description as it did in more tender years. It must be read by boys between the ages of 12 and 15 for the proper emotional effect. But girls will still cry over it at 17.
"The child lay panting on her pillow, as one exhausted. Ah, what said those eyes that spoke so much of heaven? Earth was past, and earthly pain."
"Eva," said St. Claire, gently, 'tell us what you see!'
"A bright, glorious smile passed over her face, and she said, brokenly, 'O! love—joy—peace!' gave one sigh, and passed from death unto life."
The pages of countless volumes of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" were stained with hot, honest tears that were shed on these lines which saddened the whole day for innumerable little and big girls.
It is related that Mrs. Stowe wrote the book with miraculous speed under the impulse of her hate of slavery. Before the end of 1852 a million copies had been sold in England alone and the work had been translated into every language of Europe.
No work of fiction had before, or has since, made such an impression on the public opinion of its time.
Judging from the marriages in the movie world "catch as catch can" is very popular with the stars.

POLITICAL SLANDER REBUKED
Judge Johnson of Red Wing dispensed nothing more than exact justice, when he held that Mr. Kvale had disqualified himself for candidacy for congress on the Republican ticket in the Seventh district, by uttering and circulating statements about his opponent, Mr. Volstead, that were proved to be false.
Mr. Kvale is a minister of the gospel. That very fact laid upon him the obligation of speaking nothing but the truth about Mr. Volstead, for his cloth carries with it the implication that he is scrupulous in truth-telling as in other Christian qualities. The people of the Seventh district were naturally far more inclined to accord belief to any statements that Mr. Kvale might make than to assertions of other men not so strongly committed by profession to strict adherence to the truth.
Thus when Mr. Kvale falsely charged that Mr. Volstead not only spoke sneeringly of the Bible, but was in fact an atheist, he must have carried conviction to many strict believers in the doctrines of Christianity. He might with no greater moral obliquity have paid out money for votes. In quality his offense was as heinous, his crime as reprehensible, as would have been the corrupt use of money. Indeed, it might be argued that he had done worse, for he attempted by falsehood to blast Mr. Volstead's reputation among a people so large a share of whom hold to a strict and reverent faith.
Mr. Kvale failed entirely to substantiate his charges.
The decision, if it shall be affirmed by the Supreme Court, will go far to make the corrupt practices law an effective and beneficent piece of legislation. It will serve notice on those who utter libels against candidates that their offenses are punishable and will be punished. It will make politics cleaner and higher toned in Minnesota. It will raise our campaigns to a higher level and lead to the selection of candidates on grounds of public policy and fitness. By making mud-slinging dangerous it will invite to the public service men of fine quality who heretofore have hesitated to subject themselves to such experiences as Mr. Kvale inflicted upon Mr. Volstead.—Minneapolis Journal.

WONDERFUL FISH STORIES FLOAT IN FROM CITY'S SUMMER COLONY

Record Catches Being Made Most Every Day in Lake Region—Fish-story Club in for Great Session in the Fall
Wonderful fish stories are being told in Bismarck these days. From the haunts of the city's summer colony on the lakes of Minnesota come stories of skill of the anglers' and remarkable aquatic feats. Not a few of these come of the lake region of Detroit, where many Bismarck people are summering.
State Treasurer Obert Olson has just returned to the city with his family after an enjoyable time with friends at Detroit. Mr. Olson, being somewhat new to the fishing game, is rather modest about his own achievements, but he is mighty proud of the fishing ability of many other Bismarck people at the lakes.
One Who Stars
Senator C. W. McGraw, who is disputing in the waters about Detroit, stands out as the champion fisherman of the Bismarck summer colony. That is, Mr. Olson stands ready to proclaim him the champion. No visible evidence is obtainable. But Mr. Olson's veracity can not be questioned. As before stated, he is rather new to the fishing game.
One of Senator McGraw's feats was the landing of a pike of questionable size after a terrific fight in which skill with the pole and line won out against the gameness of the fish which remained with the force of any tenant being deprived of his home. The best estimate of the size of this particular fish is nine pounds.
O. N. Dunham and H. P. Goddard are among the Bismarck residents who have proved their ability as fishermen, and a Bismarck party met Adjutant-General Fraser out in the middle of the lake fishing for the biggest in the lake.
Mr. Olson admits that he would like to have swined in the boat with Senator McGraw right along and gather in the fine points of angling. But the weight of the two men—put together with the fish they would surely catch—would be too much for even a sturdy little launch and the combination could not be effected. Indeed, Mrs. Dr. Ramstad, whose cottage is one of the neatest at the lake, noticed a perceptible ebb in the waters after Mr. Olson and Senator McGraw came out after a swim.

No Casualties Yet
Mr. Goddard usually draws the task of steering the launch. Having demonstrated his ability to steer a political organization successfully, the job of steering the boat naturally fell to him. And he hasn't had a single casualty as yet.
There is doubt in the minds of some of the Bismarck people as to whether Mr. Dunham went to the lakes to fish or to practice up on golf links with the intention of capturing the North Dakota championship. To tell some of his golf scores would be imparting a secret which might make a hazard for him to gain matches at the Country club links with Col. Little and other inveterate golfers.
Hunting the Evidence
R. D. Hoskins is reported as having made some records for fishing which are declared to be remarkable, but which are mysteriously concealed. Inquiries were made at the N. P. depot and the express office with a view of substantiating some of these wonderful tales, but the effort met with failure. Full information will be divulged by Mr. Hoskins when he returns, it is promised.
There are several young Bismarck boys and girls who are having a great time at the lakes. And when they return they are going to start agitation immediately for the promised swimming pool. Donald Jones, Archibald McGraw and Louis Gramms having already mounted the top rungs going to by WHY Collegiate Gowns Differ in Color and Design

Just before the commencement exercises of one of our universities two graduates were standing apart from the crowd of gowned men who were assembled ready to march. The men in gowns were of all grades of distinction from young bachelors of art to doctors of philosophy.
"What is the significance of all those stripes and colors, anyway?" asked one.
"Really, I don't know," was the reply. "and I have seen them every year for nine years."
If college men do not know what the various gowns and hoods stand for the person who is not college bred is likely to know less, and the increase in number of students in our universities makes things academic of wider and wider importance.
University gowns are different in different institutions, but all over the country and indeed all over the English-speaking world certain distinctions hold. Most of these fundamental distinctions may be pointed out as follows:
The ordinary bachelor's gown, the first that the college youth owns, is of unadorned black with pointed sleeves and is usually of serge or some other simple black stuff. The master's gown is like it in that it is plain black, but the sleeves are different, being made with long pendants shaped from the elbow nearly to the bottom of the gown. It may be made of silk, as also may be the bachelor's gown. It may be worn by a man of long academic standing who has happened to receive no higher degree; but the ordinary youth would not display himself in silk.
Most doctor's gowns, especially in England and Scotland, have hoods which give them distinction and mark the difference of color one kind of doctorate from another.
Some years ago a commission was formed to establish a regular system of American universities. Their effort was somewhat successful, and this in general is the result of their attempt to codify the different hoods.
The department of faculty of learning is shown by a trimming of color round the hood, arts and letters are represented by white, theology by scarlet, law by purple, philosophy by blue, science by gold-yellow, fine arts by brown, music by pink, and medicine by green. In some institutions these colors are displayed in bars across the sleeve. This is true at Harvard, where few of the gowns have hoods.—New York Sun and Herald.

GIANT STREAMS CARVE OUT BIG CITY STADIUM
Seattle, July 24.—Giant hydraulic streams are slowly carving out of the University of Washington campus here the site for a $800,000 stadium being built to stage the university's athletic contests and the city's big outdoor meetings.
Washington Field, as the stadium has been named, will seat between 5,000 and 7,000 people when completed. The structure is being constructed in units.
Work on the first unit, which will seat 10,000 people, will be rushed so a Stanford-Washington game scheduled for November 6, 1920, can be played in the stadium.

PLEA FOR THE HOME GARDEN
Why Every Citizen Should Grow His Own Vegetables, if It Is at All Possible.
Food prices are high, but food grown in home gardens costs comparatively little more than before prices began to ascend. The additional reason for home gardening in 1920 is put forward by specialists of the United States department of agriculture. They quote a letter from a New York business man. He wrote:
"Food costs today are practically double those of 1914, but the cost to plant and care for a home garden has not increased to any considerable extent. The clerk, salesman or professional man who grows his own vegetables and small fruits reduces the family food bill. More important still, he increases the total food supply of the country. He enters the producing class. To a very appreciable extent the home gardener can solve the high cost of living."
How can the man who never gardened learn to garden? One good way is to write to the United States department of agriculture, Washington, or to his state college of agriculture for a bulletin that describes every step in making a back yard or vacant lot help feed his family.

How Wind Spreads Seeds.
If all the seeds carried about by the wind were to find favorable surroundings and grow to maturity, in a surprisingly short time the earth would be overwhelmed with certain forms of plant life. It has been estimated, for instance, that a single frond of a certain fern turns loose to the wind four thousand million spores. Each spore floats with the slightest breeze, and will produce a whole plant if conditions are favorable. These are enough to cover 2,000,000 acres of land. Few of us realize the productivity of the common mushroom. A thousand acres could be covered by the spores of one single fungus.
Why Birds Should Be Protected.
Human life on this planet is one unending war with the insect world. In this war the birds are our allies. Without their help the insects would win in a very few campaigns. Wherever bird life is diminished a swarm of insect pests arises at once, which all man's sprays and powders can barely hold in check. Cut the birds out altogether and it is virtually certain that all our protective devices would not save our crops.
When we kill an insect-eating bird—and that includes nine tenths of all those we know—we are guilty of base folly and base ingratitude.
How Auto Is Displacing Horses.
It has been computed that during the past three years the number of farm horses which have been displaced by tractors footed up at 3,740,000.
German engineers have estimated that the rivers and lakes of southern Bavaria could be made to produce 200,000 hydroelectric horsepower.

EVENTS AND GOSSIP FOR THE FANS

BALL CLUB IN SNAPPY ACTION WITH NAPOLEON

Loyal Fans See Bismarck Take Fast Game at Capital Ball Park, 5 to 1

MANDAN'S GOT SURPRISE

A lot of fans missed one of the prettiest games of the season last night. Bismarck defeated Napoleon, 5 to 1, in a game well played throughout on both sides. The Bismarck team was giving the loyal fans who were out a sample of the brand of ball they figure on playing Sunday afternoon when Mandan comes to capital park. Napoleon got a run in the first inning, aided by walks. After that Fairchild, former McKenzie pitcher who now is working in Bismarck, who was on the mound for Bismarck, pitched air-tight ball. Napoleon didn't get another score.

Bismarck started with a whoop, scoring four in the first. The club walloped the ball in handy fashion. Roberts sloughed one to right field and got three bases out of it. One more score was added later in the game.

Elder Gets Hand. The Bismarck club only had one error chalked up, and that came in the ninth inning. Hurley was on third and Dolly Elder was on short. Elder got the glad hand from the fans by some sparkling fielding. The whole team played well.

Napoleon showed well, the Nap club being one of the best in the league territory. The game was clean on both sides and the umpires' decisions were satisfactory to both sides.

Surprise Coming. The Mandan club is reported to be coming across the river Sunday strengthened since the game in which Bismarck administered a 3 to 1 defeat. The Bismarck club expects to make it two straight. Capt Elder has either Anderson or Needham to draw on for the pitching.

Cather Powers has left the Bismarck team. Anderson will catch regularly.

The score:

TEACHER AND PUPIL AMONG STARS OF DIVING POOL IN OLYMPIC GAMES

BETTY GRIMES and CHARLOTTE BOYLE

BY DEAN SNYDER. Neptune may be jealous of America's swim stars who are to go to Antwerp, but about all he can really do about it is to go "take a jump in the ocean."

In mentioning new athletic marvels Babe Ruth's name somehow seems to weave into it. They're calling Miss Ethelda Bleibrey the "Babe Ruth" of the ocean now, just like they called "Man o' War" the "Babe Ruth" of the race track a few weeks ago.

It resulted from the Olympic finals at Manhattan Beach Bath, New York, recently, where Miss Bleibrey set a new world's record for 300 meters, free style swim. Her time was 4 minutes 34.15 seconds, as against the international standard mark of 4 minutes and 43 seconds, established by Miss Annie Durock of Australia, and Miss Frances Schroth's unimproved record of 4 minutes and 40.15 seconds on the coast.

Teacher and Pupil. Back of that race there is a story of how a pupil took the laurels away from her closest friend and teacher. Just two years ago Miss Bleibrey was sixteen years old. She became interested in the sea. She tucked her golden curls up under her rubber cap and decided to make swimming a business.

On the same beach there ruled a swimming nymph who also had beautiful golden hair. She was Miss Charlotte Boyle, who had just unthroned Miss Claire Galligan as queen of the sea.

Ethelda and Charlotte looked so much alike that people believed them sisters. Then began that friendship which has made them almost inseparable for the past two years.

At first Miss Boyle advised her here tomorrow. McClusky claims to have the best team along the Turtle Lake branch.
